Visa Types & Eligibility Assessment

JOBSEEKER VISA

A Job Seeker Visa lets skilled professionals enter a country to search for employment without a prior job offer. It provides an opportunity to explore job prospects and secure a position in the desired location.

START-UP VISA

A Start-Up Visa or Citizenship by Investment allows foreign entrepreneurs and investors to obtain visas or citizenship by starting or investing in a business, promoting economic growth and job creation in the host country.

FAMILY SPONSORSHIP VISA

A Family Sponsorship Visa enables citizens or permanent residents to sponsor close relatives for immigration, facilitating family reunification and residence in the host country.

Visa Types & Eligibility Assessment

PERMANENT RESIDENCE VISA

The Permanent Residence Visa (PRV) allows individuals to live, work, and study in a country indefinitely without needing additional visas or permits, offering many of the same benefits as citizenship.

STUDY VISA

A Study Visa allows foreign nationals to reside in a country and attend an educational institution for the duration of their academic program.

TOURIST / VISITOR VISA

A Tourist/Visitor Visa permits foreign nationals to enter a country temporarily for tourism, visiting family or friends, or similar short-term activities, typically for a few days to several months.

SECOND CITIZENSHIP/ PASSPORT

Second Citizenship, or dual citizenship, is the status of holding two nationalities. It can be acquired through methods like investment or naturalization.
